INTRODUCING THE NEW

"EU GENERAL DATA PROTECTION
REGULATION (GDPR) COMPLIANCE & RISK" NETWORK

PROFESSIONAL FORUM TO OPERATIONALISE AND CREATE BETTER RESULTS OF YOUR EU GENERAL DATA PROTECTION REGULATION (GDPR) BASED ON YOUR COMPLIANCE AND RISK MANAGEMENT FUNCTIONS

Network facilitator

Kersi Porbunderwalla, President and CEO The EU GDPR Institute.

Scope

All organisations are increasingly met by new regulations that challenge the current compliance processes and places higher demands on risk management. The EU General Data Protection Regulation, (GDPR) is essential for the cyber and IT risk profile and compliance work. These factors continue to impose new circumstances, control, accountability and transparency profiles of the companies.

The network is made up of professionals in legal, compliance, risk management, auditing, IT and information security professionals.

Purpose

The GDPR network aims to create a forum for discussions on relevant GDPR topics at a high theoretical and practical level. Experts will illuminate issues related to GDPR, and allow for the exchange of experiences, help develop new knowledge and give you the opportunity to establish and build business relationships with people, who work extensively within the area.

Theory meets practice

The EUGDPR Institute by Copenhagen Compliance® together with The European Risk Policy Institute offers a network of GDPR specialists facilitated by local experts, who will set the agenda for professional content and provide an insight into significant trends and inspiring cases of importance for the future GDPR risk and compliance profile and function for participating network members.

During the meetings, we will introduce the internationally recognised GDPR framework, and guide you to develop a customised framework which gives you a value-added method of determining and evaluating strategic focus areas supported by effective GDPR risk management.

The goal is to sharpen your Data Protection and Data Privacy skills so that you are better equipped to assess risks priority areas, improve scrutiny, conduct efficient control and develop more manifest communication forms in your GDPR work. GDPR Officers from leading companies will share their experiences on how they have created synergy between GDPR and give you an insight into how it has impacted their businesses.

How can GDPR Activities Improve your business performance

Modern-day GDPR risk and compliance management are not about avoiding cyber disaster or staying out of trouble or even mitigating risks. Real risk management, is about how to utilise the GDPR intelligence as it relates to the digitisation activities, to ensure that the organisation is set up to achieve its integration and automation goals. At the network meetings, we will cover all aspects of the ongoing challenges to manage GDPR mandates while reducing compliance costs.

Discussion subjects:

At the network meetings, we will focus on the proper understanding of GDPR across the organisation. The questions will be trade or profession neutral and will address the issues that challenge or threaten the corporate GDPR objectives and strategy.

We will focus on the detailed assessment, measurement and monitoring of GDPR. This integrated insight into the internal and external operating environment is a crucial enabler for better corporate decision making. We will discuss how to achieve goals and deliver increased value to key stakeholders, in the form of reduced compliance and operating costs, or improved business performance.

Our agenda will cover:

- Regular updates on the data protection and privacy regulation
- Data and IT governance: the active monitoring and reporting of data management and cybersecurity
- Tone at the top: management/board's responsibility in setting priorities for privacy risks
- Monitoring, Code of Conduct and Certification
- Due diligence: the screening and training of third party and partners
- Crisis management: the prevention of brand and reputation damage due to cyber attacks
- DPIA assessments: the implementation of the ISO/IEC 29134:2017 and practicalities in identifying, measuring and controlling privacy and compliance risks
- GDPR disclosures and oversight reporting systems

Benefits

Networking will help to develop customised roadmaps and frameworks to define and create end-to-end processes around the GDPR needs to integrate and embed these into your operations and organisation including implementing security awareness programs with a GDPR governance operating model to perform regular gap analysis.

Your membership for this network will grant you access to:

- The EU GRPR Toolkit with policies templates, standards and other reference materials
- Consulting with members on an individual basis or through the EU GDPR Institute networks on privacy matters
- Support from the EU GDPR Institute
- Communication to keep you updated about development in regulations, Global Data Protection and Privacy laws and other privacy standards
- Invitations to events and training opportunities at a discounted fee

Network focus area and approach

- Developing a GDPR program and methodology to provide a flexible and stable set of operating procedures, independent of the organisational structure of participating members
- Workshops in between meetings, training and information on the software components to comply and address critical issues
- Focus on the never-ending challenges of GDPR to support a successful business. Understanding and managing risk while ensuring compliance including the scope, design, installation and implementation of quality reviews

Join the network and get inspiration and learn how to use GDPR as a lubricant to automate privacy, cybersecurity processes and a tool to implement the corporate digitisation. The guidance will provide an opportunity to correct past implementation mistakes, or continue the GDPR journey in a structured and organised manner. We will always address the critical issues, and provide you with planned application guidance beyond the 25th May 2018 deadline.

Your profile

The network welcomes leaders, who work with GDPR compliance, risk and governance at both a strategic and operational level. Get the most out of the GDPR relationships that we will build together.
